NewLafayette.org is upgrading this weekend

...could you tell? ;) If you see this message, you are receiving only part of the website, with pictures possibly missing and stories misplaced everywhere. Still others may be getting a "page not found" or generic search page instead. There is no need to panic; Al Gore's internet is still working. The process is expected as our highly paid staff upgrades our server this weekend. The net result will be dramatically improved page loading speeds. Additionally, the revamped site will bring you more timely information, including a new "events calendar" for Lafayette, which you'll want to check out. The full site could be available Sunday or by Monday, times will vary. Thank you for your support.
